SMALL BUT SO MIGHTY

Are the Chemical Fire Extinguishers.

TWO MORE WILL BE ASKED

At the Next Meeting of Council—They Cost but Little, Yet Seem to Be a Big Thing For Saving Property—Smaller Ones Are Needed Now.

The fire department want some improved appliances, and will ask council for the supplies at the next regular meeting.

The articles so badly needed are a few chemical extinguishers similar to those already in use, but of smaller capacity and less weight. The machines now used contain eight gallons, and weigh about 100 pounds each. They are all right for service on ground floors and in basements, but are far too heavy to be taken to garrets, or carried along roofs. The size in demand is of five-gallon capacity, and are so light that any man in the department can handle them with ease. The cost is but little, and all the laddies are hoping that council will hear the plea with a favorable ear. The extinguishers have been the means of putting out more fires and saving more property since the new department was organized than any other institution about central station. With them the boys have been able to do a great deal of good, yet no one attempts to deny that the excellent material which goes to make up every fireman in the company has much to do with the success. If the machines are secured, they will be attached to the hose wagon, as the ladder truck is already provided.

Intelligent Fire Horses.

"How those horses know it's time for dinner is a mystery to me" remarked a loungeer in the fire station to a reporter the other day. As the reporter watched he came to believe that they were indeed an intelligent lot of animals. When the big fire bell taps 12 times at noon it rings the gong in the central station. The first tap of the bell opens the doors of the stalls, and the horses rush under the harness hanging ready to receive them. Ordinarily, in case of a fire alarm, the animals are impatient to get out of the building, but a close observer can notice that their interest is elsewhere at noon. Instead of excitement they are little disturbed and once in position turn their heads and watch their feed boxes being filled and hung up in the stalls. Their impatience, if any, is all in an entirely different direction than when there is a run to be made, and as the bystander remarked it is indeed a mystery how the horses know the hour so well. The department boys have faith enough in the horses to believe that should a genuine alarm be rung in at the stroke of 12 they would know the difference, and be ready for business as usual.

Postponed the Anniversary.

Pride of the Valley council No. 4, Daughters of America, in regular session installed the following officers: Associate junior past councillor, Roy Baxter; past councillor, Mrs. Lowry; councillor, Ada Shaffer; associate councillor, Anna English; vice councillor, Katie Baxter; associate vice, Mrs. Welch; recording secretary, Willis Davidson; assistant, William Sutton; conductor, Miss Sadie Chambers; inside sentinel, Homer Owen; financial secretary, Miss Lulu Green; treasurer, Mrs. Mills; trustees, Roy Baxter, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Jackson. It was decided unanimously that the fourth anniversary which was to have been celebrated early this month, be postponed until Jan. 28. National Deputy C. W. Morris, of Wellsville, installed the officers, and the meeting was one of the best held for some weeks.

A Thrilling Experience.

A sledding party which went out from this city Tuesday night had a thrilling experience. On returning some of the crowd decided to go back and visit another farm house, although it was after midnight. In turning, the sled was pushed backward and one-half of it hung over the edge of a steep bank which had not been noticed. The terror of the crowd when they suddenly discovered their dangerous position can well be imagined, but strange to say none of the ladies fainted. The decision to go back was quickly changed and the horses' heads turned toward home.

Awful Death of Mrs. Freshwater.

The friends of Doctor Freshwater, presiding elder of this conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, will learn with deepest regret that his wife met an awful death in a Wheeling hospital yesterday. She has been there for some time under treatment for nervous prostration, but was to have been taken home to Scioto on that day. In company with the nurse, she went to the elevator and got in, but becoming frightened attempted to leave after the car started. The unfortunate woman was caught between the floor and the elevator, crushing her skull and causing instant death. The interment will be in Steubenville tomorrow afternoon.

He May Prosecute.

Two men, said to reside in this city, are at present trembling in their boots for fear the strong arm of the law will be extended in their direction, and all because of the capture of an innocent little rabbit. A St. Clair township farmer the other day observed the two men riding by his house with their hunting outfits and hearing no shots, he guessed rightly that they were hunting on his farm with ferrets. A brief search revealed the hunters in the act of bringing a rabbit out of his hole by means of one of these keen-scented and sharp-toothed animals, and the farmer told them he intended prosecuting. They offered him the rabbit, but argued the matter in vain. So far no complaint has been entered in any of the justice courts here by the farmer.

Only a Senseless Story.

The report was flying this morning that a well known motorman had attempted to take his own life yesterday. As the story went he went to a house in East End, and stepping into a bath tub turned on the water, only being rescued when life was almost gone. There was a stir among the motormen when the report appeared this morning, but the man directly affected put all fears to rest by pronouncing it a fake pure and simple which some one started in the hope of making him the butt of a joke.

Arbitrating a Strike.

SALEM, Jan. 17.—Secretary Bishop, of the state board of arbitration, is here today attempting to bring the striking wire workers and the mill owners together. He has secured the consent of the men, and expects to have their employers ready for the meeting some time today. About 100 men are affected, and a settlement of the trouble will mean a good thing for Salem business men.

Spilled the Milk.

A milk wagon owned by Mr. Anderson met with misfortune on Grant street this morning. The road was so icy that the wheels began to slide, and before the driver could get his horses about the wagon had tipped in the operation and about 35 gallons of the lacteal fluid floated out upon the ground. The wagon was somewhat damaged, but the milk loss overbalanced all others.

Dixon May Sell.

Rumors have been rife for several days of the contemplated sale of J. S. Dixon's stock of ice and business to the East Liverpool ice company. One of the interested parties was seen today and admitted that such a deal was on but had not yet been consummated. The company, if they succeed in purchasing, will have things all their own way as they purchased the business of B. R. Little last summer.

The Oil Exploded.

When the servant girl employed at the residence of the Misses Jack, on Thompson hill was engaged in lighting the fire she poured a little oil in the stove, believing that the first blaze had died away. The result was a terrific explosion which threw the astonished girl to the ground and blinded her with the flame. Her hair was burned away, and her face scorched, but the injuries are by no means dangerous.

Making a Hard Fight.

A well informed traveling salesman, who knows whereof he speaks, says that the pottery manufacturers are working as they never worked before to secure trade. More men are out selling Liverpool ware today than ever carried samples for this city in any previous time, and they are compelled to hustle to get the trade. The importers have their men in the field, and the fight is one for supremacy.

An Addition at Lythe's.

Preparations are being made for the erection of an addition to the Lythe sewer pipe works on the Wellsville road. It will be a wing 40x50 feet, next the railroad, and will be three stories high. Some new machinery will be added, and the output of the works sensibly enlarged.

THEY NEED OUR HELP

And Liverpool is Responding Liberally.

ANOTHER CAR LOAD TO GO

Early Next Week or as Soon as it Can be Collected—A Chance for Those Out of the Church to Contribute—Some Letters From Nebraska.

If all the world treats the poor, suffering people of Nebraska with as much consideration as they have received in East Liverpool, there will be enough provisions, and some to spare.

The foreign and home missionary societies of the First Methodist Episcopal church met last night, and decided to unite forces in an effort to reach the poor. They want to send a carload of clothing and provisions early next week, and will ask none to contribute except members of their own church, and people who have no connection with the Christian churches of the city. Another meeting will be held on Saturday night in the classroom, when it is hoped that the committee will be able to report the preparation of the car. All the members are working to-day, and it is hoped that the consignment will be in readiness by the first of the week.

The Rev. James Leonard, presiding elder of the North Platte district, has written a letter to this city acknowledging the receipt of a box of goods. He says that the articles they most need are boys' clothes. Clothes for girls are also in demand, and there have been many more calls than they are able to fill. Groceries are badly wanted, because many people have only a little meal, which they mix with water and eat—they are so hungry. Another letter to a private person in this city says that the family writing it have determined to drive to Kansas, 300 miles away, since it is so much easier to die of cold than to die of hunger. In the district in which they reside there are about 3,000 destitute people.

The home missionary ladies sent several barrels of supplies today, accompanied by some money.

Why Not Number Ohio?

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW.—When the good people of East Liverpool are sending food and clothing to the poor of Nebraska, they should not forget that within the borders of Ohio there are hundreds of starving men, women and children in need of aid. They are in the Hocking valley, that great coal mining region, where the miners have been idle for months, and the people have no work. They need all they can get, and their own state should not forget them in their need. If the public will not look upon it as presumption, I would like to advise that some of the zealous workers for Nebraska take a glance toward Nelsonville and Gloucester.

POVERTY.

No Independent Ticket.

It is believed that the women who wish to vote for school directors at the coming election cannot nominate an independent ticket, but will be compelled to join forces with one of the other of the great political parties. Secretary of State Taylor has already decided that women will not be obliged to make nominations in convention, inasmuch as they are not in position to nominate by petition, because the law requires that petitioners must have voted at a previous election. The section of law relating to the matter says that not less than 300 qualified voters of the county must sign a petition for an independent movement.

A Snag for an Odd Fellow.

George H. Owen today received word that he had been elected representative to the grand encampment of Ohio Odd Fellows, which meets in New Philadelphia in May. There was a spirited contest for the place, Steubenville having a candidate who worked with all the power at his command, but he was not near the Liverpool man when the count was made.

Home From Canada.

Engineer Kerry, of the bridge company, arrived from Canada last night where he has been spending a month in Montreal. They have snow in abundance there just now, and the city is gay with the numberless pleasures of midwinter enjoyment. The gentlemen would not talk about the new bridge.

An Injurious Book.

Some individual is flooding the city with cheaply printed copies of a work which certainly could not be sent through the mails without being classified as obscene matter, and which should not be sold in this or any other place. It is an argument against dancing, and is well filled with licentious allusions calculated to sell the book and not stop the practice of dancing. To the matured mind it is but a worthless lot of rot, but to the young people into whose hands it can not but fall it is a decidedly dangerous production, and should be suppressed.

Not This Time.

Zoellars, the man confined in city hall awaiting transportation to Canton, was released yesterday afternoon, when his brother appeared before Mayor Gilbert and paid the fine against his name. In connection with this case comes a denial from C. Geiz to some part of the published account. Zoellars, he says, was not arrested in his place, nor does he operate a soup room. He has the first time in his life to appear in the mayor's court, and no trouble ever happens in his establishment.

Scared by the Price.

The time is ripe for another mammoth hotel story to appear in the city, and it came today with the rumor that a number of capitalists were here a few days ago looking after a site upon which could be erected a fine structure, handsomely fitted out, and possessed of a cuisine that would bring the traveling public from every quarter to get a substantial meal. They came and after looking at the property on which the risk is built decided that the price was too much for their resources.

The Flash Light System.

Much talk is being carried on about the flash light system of signalling in telephone offices, and it was rumored that the system would be put in here. Manager Swaney said that this was not probable just now, as the switch board here is a good one, and the telephone people were only putting the system where it was needed. It consists of small incandescent lights, which burn when the operator is waiting for a call to be answered, and are a mighty saving in work for the busy girls.

A Morning Blaze.

At an early hour this morning fire was discovered in the house owned by James Baxter on Fairview street. An alarm was sent in, and the department made a quick run to the West End, but the fire was out before the boys arrived. The blaze originated between the weather boarding and the inside wall, a defective flue being the cause. A few buckets of water extinguished the blaze, and the department was spared the dangerous task of climbing the steep hill.

No Meeting of Hospital Committee.

As yet there has been no meeting of the hospital committee appointed by President Berg at the last meeting of council. They are waiting for something to be done by the other interested bodies, but will likely have a meeting before council convenes again. The project is among the most important ever brought into council, and should not be allowed to die out, now that the public has taken an interest in it.

Many are Expected.

Elaborate preparations for the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the First Presbyterian church are in progress, and a large attendance is expected. The fact that the Steubenville presbytery will hold an adjourned meeting here at that time insures a large attendance of ministers, some of whom will take an active part. Among the guests expected is Doctor Marshall. The exercises will be held next week.

Viewing a System.

The Salineville school board went to Pittsburg today to look over the heating system in use in the public schools there with a view to purchasing for their structure in the coal town. Tonight the board and seven or eight architects, among them A. W. Scott, of this city, will meet in Salineville for the purpose of choosing plans for the new school building. The estimated cost is from $16,000 to $20,000.

Dorf Case Dismissed.

The case in which William Dorf was interested in being charged with taking a ring from a West End woman has been disposed of, and there will be no more prosecution. The ring was returned and the matter settled.

Changed the Place.

The Congregational meeting which was arranged to take place at a private residence in the East End has been changed, and the members will gather in the Second Presbyterian church. As yet the church has no pastor.

SENATOR AND POTTERS

Talk Over a Change in Crockery Tariff.

NO ENCOURAGEMENT IS GIVEN

The Ohio-New York Senator Does Not Believe Any Mistakes Will Be Rectified—The Association Elect Officers—An Important Committee.

The manufacturing potters continued their work in Washington yesterday by again electing the officers of last year to control for an equal period. The membership of the association was increased by the acceptance of applications from nine concerns in different parts of the country making the organization almost complete. The convention of manufacturers to be held in Cincinnati was discussed, and it was decided to act upon the invitation received from the executive committee by appointing William Burgess, Trenton, C. F. Brockman, Cincinnati, and N. A. Frederick, of this city, to represent the potting industry. A number of other potters will be in attendance, but the delegates named will be entitled to a place in the convention. A special from Washington contains this additional information:

"A delegation of East Liverpool potters called upon Senator Brice today. They are here to ask that errors and irregularities in the pottery schedule of the tariff bill be corrected. Mr. Brice told them very candidly that there is no possible chance of the tariff being brought up at this session, even to correct errors."

The Missionary Convention.

A number of persons arrived in the city this morning to attend the meeting of the missionary society being held in the Methodist Protestant church today. Another session was held this afternoon, and the closing meeting will be tonight when Mrs. Calhoun will lecture in the costume of a Japanese lady. The delegates in attendance are from all parts of the Pittsburgh district, and have been enjoying a pleasant day among their friends in this city. They all like to come to Liverpool.

Three Mean Men.

An exchange speaks of three of the most stingy men on record. The first will not drink as much water as he wants unless it comes from his neighbor's well. The second forbids his family to write anything but small hand, as it is a waste of ink to make large letters. The third stops the clock to save the wear and tear of machinery. All of them refuse to take a newspaper on the ground that it is such a terrible strain on their spectacles to read.

The River Falling.

The river continues to fall in spite of thaw yesterday, and little business is being done at this place. The Bedford went down yesterday, but her load was so light that her owners will not make a fortune out of the trip. The Hudson was due last night, but was so delayed at some point that she had not arrived at 10 o'clock this morning. The packets are making hay while the sun shines and the water is up.

Will it Affect Liverpool?

Al Johnson, the street railway magnate, retired from the board of directors of the Cleveland company, and refused a re-election even when it was forced upon him. The reason given was his desire to center his attention upon the lines which he owns in Brooklyn. If he should carry this resolution into effect regarding all his western investments he will leave the local line to some other capitalist.

Dissolved Partnership.

Councilmen Burton and Williams, who have been in partnership manufacturing door knobs under a new patent, have dissolved and agreed to go their several ways. Mr. Williams will continue the business in connection with A. W. Corns who has been foreman at the plant. Mr. Burton and his family will leave in a month for Norfolk, Va., where they expect to spend a year.

Chartered a Boat.

George E. O'Neal, of Steubenville, has chartered the C. C. Martin of Captain Summers for a period of 90 days, and will run the craft between this city and Steubenville. The Martin was brought from Cincinnati a short time ago, and made a few trips before the flood.

A Pleasant Party.

A number of friends were pleasantly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin, Sixth street, last evening.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., THURSDAY, JAN. 17.

For President,
WILLIAM MCKINLEY,
OF Ohio.

COLUMBIANA county overflows with candidates, and strange to relate there is not a Democrat in the lot.

THIRTY-TWO more school houses were built in Ohio last year than in any other year in the history of the state. Thus does Ohio make an example which other states might follow with profit to their rising generation.

MR. GRESHAM must keep a sharp eye on the islands of Alaska or the English will have their lion perched on the best of the lot. It is a significant truth that England was not so gay in western waters when a Republican administration protected American rights and territories.

THE enterprising papers engaged in discussing the new county project should give their readers a rest. They deserve it. For days the knowing editors have discussed the question in its every phase. Now it is squeezed dry of news, and no one is aching to read opinions where there seems no chance for the desired project, to reach anything better than a lot of talk.

MORE TINKERING.

After giving their patchwork tariff law a thorough trial, some leaders of Democracy are compelled to acknowledge that it does not fill the niche for which it was intended. When they consented to have a few protective features in the bill they made last year, it was for the sole purpose of providing revenue with which to pay government expenses. Now after the public debt has been increased by two $50,000,000 bond issues, and another seems in sight within the next few months, they have arrived at the conclusion that the rate on imports is too low, and something must be done.
Senator Gorman takes the initiative step by advocating a new tariff law based on an increase of about 12 per cent over what he put into the senate bill. He, of course, expects to have the support of the Republican element in the new congress, and knowing that this alone will assure the success of his project, is already making overtures. The gentleman from Maryland might understand once for all that the people don't care a rap for his scheme to increase the revenue, but they do care for an increase in the duties, and sincerely hope that he will go to work at once.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to performance of the functions.

petizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need.

Decatur's Fight In the President.

Jan. 15, 1815, was the date of a desperate encounter at sea,
which, like Jackson's battle at New Orleans, took place after the war had been officially ended by the treaty of Ghent. On that day Captain Stephen Decatur sailed from New York in the President, bound for the East Indies.
Before the President got fairly to sea she was chased by four British ships of war—the Endymion, 40 guns; Pomone, 38; Tenedos, 38; and the Majestic, 56 guns.
The President rated 44. She was heavily laden for a voyage, and even after lightening the Endymion gained on her, finally getting into position to rake with her bow guns. The President could not strike the Endymion, owing to weak powder, nor could she outlast her. Decatur prepared to run down his enemy, seize her by a hand to hand fight, then abandon his own vessel for the swifter Briton.
The commander of the Endymion, however, kept his ship a quarter of a mile distant from the President, but the vessels, sailing abreast, exchanged broadsides with tremendous effect.

Failing to get a chance to lay his ship alongside the Endymion, Decatur resolved to dismantle her by skillful gunnery, and after a running fight of a couple of hours stripped all her sails from her yards and compelled her to fall astern.
Meanwhile darkness came on. The Endymion was almost at the mercy of the President, although many shots from the latter had failed to penetrate, but the other ships were on hand to be reckoned with. Decatur therefore kept his vessel on her course, chased by the Pomone and the Tenedos, with the Majestic and Dispatch, a new arrival, close astern. The Pomone opened the second fight with a damaging broadside, followed speedily by the other three. The guns on the British fleet outnumbered those of the Americans at least four to one, and the British crews were fresh, whereas on the President 24 officers and seamen had been killed and 56 wounded in the close and running fight with the Endymion. Seeing that further resistance would be useless, Decatur struck his colors.

GEORGE L. KILMER.

Death of Sir John Moore at Corunna.

On the 16th of January, 1809, Sir
John Moore, commander of the British army in the peninsular war, was struck down by a cannon ball while inspiring his soldiers in a forlorn defense of the gates of Corunna, Spain, against the French armies under Soult.

Not a drum was heard, not a funeral note,
As his corse to the ramparts we hurried;
Not a soldier discharged his farewell shot O'er the grave where our hero was buried.

No useless coffin closed his breast,
Not in sheet nor in shroud we wound him,
But he lay like a warrior taking his rest,
With his martial cloak around him.

Slowly and sadly we laid him down,
From the field of his fame fresh and gory,
We carved not a line, we raised not a stone,
But we left him alone with his glory.

Moore's purpose in defending Corunna was to cover the embarkation of his troops in vessels which arrived after the French had surrounded the place with vastly superior numbers. The combat in which he lost his life ended in the repulse of the French and the successful though hasty withdrawal of the British army. GEORGE L. KILMER.

Will Report Phillips' Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The house committee on labor has voted to favorably report the bill of Representative Phillips of Pennsylvania for a non-partisan commission, to investigate the problems presented by labor, agriculture and capital and recommend legislation.
The commission is to consist of five representatives of labor, agriculture and capital to be appointed by the president and to choose six associates and is to work for two years.

A Tragic Complication.

"So you refuse me!" said Charley Callow bitterly.
"Of course," said the charming widow.
"Won't you even be a sister to me?"
"No. I'm engaged to marry your father. I'll be a mother to you."—Washington Star.

Will Admit Women.

BELOIT, Wis., Jan. 17.—Beloit college trustees have voted to admit women to the college classes after this school year.

R MALICIOUS MURDERER.

A Preacher Roasts a Slanderer Who Indirectly Cased a Girl's Death.

FROSTBURG, Md., Jan. 17.—At the funeral services of Miss Lillie Nickel, the Rev. Britt of the English Lutheran church preached a powerful sermon, which is stirring up Frostburg yet. He referred to the meddlesome busybodies of the neighborhood in scathing language, saying that those who had slandered the fair name of the dead girl deserved "to be hanged up by their tongues," and those who had listened to the falsehood deserved "to be hanged by the ears."

Mr. Britt said that the malicious man who started the stories about the girl stood guilty of her murder. Some time ago she heard that a traveling man had made remarks derogatory to her character, upon which she got a revolver and made the man retract what he had said. When unloading the weapon it was discharged, causing her death.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 17.—Upon the representation of the United States minister, Mr. Alexander W. Terrell, the captain of gendarmes of the town of Kausa, in the Sivas district, has been summoned to this city in order to undergo punishment for ill treating Mr. Hubbard, an American missionary. It seems that Mr. Hubbard was on his way to call upon an Armenian friend when the captain stopped him, demanded his passport, took him to a police station and struck him. Mr.
Hubbard was finally released and placed the matter before the United States minister with the result already told.

HILL IN LINE FOR '96.

His Friend Howell Produces a Letter Written in '92.

GOLD AND SILVER FREE COINAGE.

His Favorite Issue For the Future and a Slogan of Victory In 1896—Opposed to State Bank Tax—Not Much on Tariff Reform.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—A letter from Senator David B. Hill of New York was published here today, which will attract considerable attention as bearing upon the campaign of 1896. In it he declares that the free coinage of silver, as well as gold "must be held out as the goal which the country must ultimately reach." The letter was written nearly two years ago, just prior to the memorable extra session of 1893, to Mr. Clark Howell, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, who gives it to the public with the consent of Senator Hill, obtained some time ago. On the money question he says:

"I am in favor of bimetalism as the issue of the future. We should seek to keep that issue to the front; we should not strive for temporary success or compromise measures. We should be for free coinage under an international agreement, if it is possible to procure one and for which every exertion should be made—and if not possible, then for independent bimetalism. This is the great goal for which we should strive.
It cannot be done at once. Our friends must not be impatient. The people must be educated. The unexpected action of India and the general sentiment of the moneyed classes conspire against us at this time. I do not believe in the Bland bill or any other measure which guarantees anything less than unrestricted coinage for gold and silver alike as pledged in the Democratic national platform. Let us prepare, not for present victory, but for victory upon that issue in 1896. The repeal of the Sherman law will not give the relief which is anticipated. It will aid business temporarily, but in a year time will be had and the demand for a permanent financial relief will be irresistible. We should continue to hold out free coinage as the goal which the country must ultimately reach. The triumph of the monometallists will be but temporary."
"As to the repeal of the 10 per cent tax on state banks the text cannot be well defined. It is an undemocratic tax. Ostensibly it is imposed for revenues, but it does not, in fact, bring in any revenue and was never intended for that purpose. From a Democratic standpoint, its imposition is an abuse of the taxing power. I should not like to go upon record in favor of such a tax, nor do I desire to refuse a repeal of it.
I regard that tax question as an independent one, which has little bearing upon the main great question of free coinage of silver, and they should be kept apart as much as possible. While the tax cannot be approved from a Democratic standpoint, I fear the consequences of a repeal. As I understand it, it has been held that congress has not power directly to prohibit state banking, and I doubt the policy of restoring the sugar tax. Our people have come to regard sugar as one of the necessities and comforts of life, and they want it as cheap as possible. Let the tariff be retained on those articles which come in competition with our workmen if it is necessary to secure more revenue."

The letter closes as follows: "These are my views, hastily expressed, and of course always subject to modification after consulting with party friends.
While I like to adhere to my own views as well as anyone in party affairs, I believe in the old doctrine, 'In essentials unity; in non-essentials liberty, and in all things charity.'"

Jurors Rebel Against a Judge.

CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—Never has a United States court in Chicago been the witness of such a scene as has occurred in Judge Seaman's court. An entire jury rebelled against the order of the judge, and although 11 of the jurors afterwards submitted to the directions of the court, one juror, Julius Clayton, refused even under protest to obey the court. With a long impassioned statement in the face of contempt of court, he was firm and finally scored a virtual victory over the judge.

They Need a War Vessel.

COLON, Colombia, Jan. 17.—The greatest excitement prevails here among the native population, and the American residents are anxiously hoping for the arrival of a United States war vessel.
This state of affairs is due to the fact that placards have been posted in a number of public places announcing that a plot has been formed to destroy Colon by fire, and that this will be done if wages are not promptly raised in proportion to the cost of living.

Physician Sued For $10,000.

LEBANON, Pa., Jan. 17.—Lawyers Copp and Schock, counsel for Rosa A.
Derfer of this city, have brought an action of trespass against Dr. A. J. Rie-ger, a prominent homeopathic physician is $10,000.

appropriation bill was considered in the house. There was also some debate on the currency bill.

BRISSON MAY BE PRESIDENT.

Ex-Premier Floquet Says He Has Enough Votes to Elect Him.

PARIS, Jan. 17.—M. Floquet, formerly premier and one of the most experienced statesmen in France, declared in the lobbies of the chamber of deputies that M. Henri Brisson, president of the chamber of deputies, could count upon 100 votes in the senate and upon 300 among the deputies. If this is so M.
Brisson will be elected president of the French republic today.

M. Casimir-Perier went back today to his private residence in Rue Nitot, where he lives on the first floor, and his mother, who, with Mm. Burdeau and Spuller, persuaded him to run for the presidency, lives on the ground floor.

It Didn't Phase Hayward.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 17.—The state sprang a little surprise on Harry Hayward, accused of the murder of Catherine Gine, when Miss Julia Gine of Auburn, N. Y., twin sister of the murdered woman and almost exactly like her in appearance, was suddenly and without warning ushered into Hayward's cell at the county jail. The state's attorneys were counting on the effect the sudden apparition of the murdered woman's double might have on the supposed murderer. But they were greatly disappointed. Hayward's magnificent nerve never deserted him for an instant. To the sister Hayward denied the murder.

The American University.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—At the semi-annual meeting of the trustees of the American university the finance committee reported the present total assets of the university to be $172,633. The officers of the university were authorized to take immediate steps to secure the erection of a hall of history. C. C.
Glover gave $1,000 in cash and Andrew Fowler, John S. Hayner and John E.
Andrus each pledged $10,000, and Dr.
Carroll $2,500 on the condition that $130,000 be subscribed for this special purpose by May next.

Sentenced For 18 Years.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 17.—On the morning of July 12, 1894, Winnifred E.
Smith, a wealthy man about town, stabbed Weston B. Thomas of Anderson to death at the Brighton Beach clubhouse, near this city. Thomas was secretary of the American Wire Nail company of Anderson and was very wealthy. Smith was indicted for murder and his trial began ten days ago.
The jury has returned a verdict of 18 years in the penitentiary.

Can Buy Foreign Ore Cheaper.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 17.—The iron ore mines of E. & G. Brooke at Falls of French Creek have closed indefinitely, throwing 100 men out of work. The company says it can buy foreign ore much cheaper. The mines have been worked for almost a century and there are vast beds of rich ore at an average depth of 50 feet below the surface.

Severe Sentence For Assault.

READING, Pa., Jan. 17.—One of the severest sentences for assault and battery ever pronounced in the court of this county was that against Thomas Booz, who was fined $100 and sentenced to jail for a year by Judge Endlich for aggravated assault and battery on Harry Lewis. The defendant went into Lewis store some months ago and assaulted him with a billy or some other weapon, breaking his jaw and fracturing his skull.

Higgins Can't Be Elected.

DOVER, Del., Jan. 16.—While the senatorial situation remains unchanged the general impression seems to prevail that the sentiment is drifting toward some third man. Who the dark horse will be no one pretends to foretell at this writing. The supporters of Senator Higgins have at last come to the conclusion that he cannot be elected.

Burglars Captured.

LEWISTOWN, Pa., Jan. 17.—The store of Samuel Watts of Belleville was arrested and brought to Lewistown.

Potter of Lebanon.

leans, pretender to the throne of France, has left Stove House for Dover. It is presumed that he is going to Belgium or that he will meet his supporters at Dover. Consequently it is believed that the royalists of France are preparing to take some action in view of the crisis in France.

A Cyclone In California.

SAN MIGUEL, Cal., Jan. 17.—A cyclone has visited this section doing considthat of Robert Peck. His buggy was overturned, breaking two of his ribs and a flying tree pierced his lungs. The Parkfield stage was overturned but the passengers escaped injury.

Unheeded by Wilson's Friends.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 17.—The Democratic caucus has nominated Hon. J. N. Camden for senator, the vote standing Camden, 17; William Wilson, 12. A letter was read from Mr. Wilson asking that his name be not presented to the caucus, but the request was unheeded by his ardent friends.

NOT A BRIDAL PARTY.

But the Massachusetts Man Wanted to Know All About It.
They were wandering up and down the waiting room of the Grand Central station, and neither seemed inclined to talk much, although from the glances they occasionally bestowed upon one another it was plain that there was a degree of relationship existing between them. Suddenly the young man left the young woman's side and crossed to the newsstand, where he purchased a paper. Returning, he conducted his companion to a seat.

Hardly were they seated before one of those inquiring individuals who must talk to somebody placed himself in the next seat and eyed them inquisitively, to their visible annoyance. He could not curb his propensity to talk, and thus began:

"Strangers in the city?"
"Yes," said the man shortly.
"Taking a train?" was the next query.
"Yes."

"Maybe you are going my way?" continued he of the inquiring turn of mind.
"Maybe. We are going to Boston."
"Ah, you belong there?"
"I do," was the man's answer.
"Fine city," went on the inquisitive one. "You don't see the papers filled up with divorces and scandals there as you do here. I belong to Massachusetts myself. Worcester is my home, and a divorce case or an elopement is a rarity. You seem to have gone into matrimony recently?" looking at them patronizingly.

"Rather," was the tired response.
"Might I inquire your business?"
"Certainly. I am a detective."
"On your honeymoon?"
"No," answered the detective, folding up his paper. "I'm taking back a prisoner."

"Why! You don't mean to say"—looking at the woman in astonishment.
"I do."
"I thought she was your wife."
"So she is, and my prisoner. To save you inquiry, she eloped with another man the day I married her, and I tracked her here."

"And you are taking her back to justice?"
"No, to marry her. I guess the job wasn't properly done, so we're going to do it over again."
"Is she from Boston too?"
"No. From Worcester."
"Oh!" The inquisitive man said no more.—New York Recorder.

A FAMOUS NOVELIST.

Hall Caine is said to resemble Shakespeare in the keen intelligence of his features and in the intellectual height of his prominent forehead. He possesses a highly nervous organization, and his first novel came near bankrupting him in health. His best work is done after midnight in the early morning hours. He is a native of the Isle of Man, a Manxman, and is 45 years old, or thereabouts. Much of his time is spent in travel, when he exerts his powers of observation and gathers material for future use. His home is in the English lake country, overlooking Derwentwater and above the town of Reswick. It is called "Hawthorns."

The novelist is also at times a poet, as he occasionally writes some verses for publication. He has decided religious tendencies, which take the form of investigation. He contemplates writing a life of Christ, and as he excels in terse, epigrammatic sentences his style would be in the direct line of Biblical truths. He is conscientious and painstaking in all his literary methods, and his readers recognize in him one who has sincerity as a superstructure for every romance of which he is the architect.—New York Advertiser.

Meant For the Minister.

A popular minister in Fifeshire, in the good old times, used at Christmas to be inundated with hampers filled with good things. On one occasion an enormous turkey was sent to him by the thoughtful kindness of a neighboring farmer, but as the minister's family had already provided for the Christmas dinner the bird was sent to the market and sold.

A passerby, seeing this fine specimen of poultry, said, "What a splendid turkey! Just the thing for the minister's Christmas dinner!" To the minister it was again sent.

The provident wife sent it again to the market and sold it again for a handsome sum.

Another friend, similarly struck with the splendid proportions of the turkey, purchased it and sent it to the minister. The good woman, not wishing to fly in the face of Providence, said at last: "It is clear that the Lord means us to have this turkey," and with the approbation of the family it formed part of the Christmas dinner.—Youth's Companion.

THE JAM TRADE.

Gladstone's Wisdom In Advising the Farmers to Cultivate Fruit.

A few years ago, when Mr. Gladstone, in one of his charming bioclinical orations at Hawarden, recommended the British farmer to turn his attention to fruit cultivation and the making of jam, his advice was received with a good deal of cheap and ignorant ridicule. As usual, the ex-premier has proved a good deal wiser than his critics, and those who gave ear to his counsel in this instance have had no reason to regret their confidence. In an interview a famous provider says:

"The motive that induced me to take up the jam trade was my knowledge of the fact that within late years the demand for preserves had been steadily increasing, while that for butter has, no doubt in consequence, shown a tendency rather to decline than otherwise. Catering as I do for some 800,000 daily customers, I have naturally good opportunity of knowing what the public want in the matter of provisions.
"Jam has a great future before it. The people are using it more and more largely every year, and, in my opinion, they are doing wisely, for what could be cheaper and at the same time healthier than a good jam made from sound English fruit?"

"I attribute the superiority of English fruit to the nature of the soil and to the fact that the fruit ripens more gradually in our climate than in countries where there is more continuous and powerful sunshine. The slower the ripening process the better is the flavor of the fruit."

"You may not perhaps be aware that strawberries grown in the northern parts of Scotland are vastly superior in all respects to those grown in southern England, without doubt because they take longer to mature. Australian jams are being pushed largely in India and elsewhere, and may very probably come over here before long to compete with our home produce."

"In Ireland there is a magnificent future for the fruit growing industry if only its opportunities were turned to account. Even now most of the blackberries that come to the English markets are grown in Ireland. But there are enormous possibilities there of which no one has yet taken advantage. Properly worked, its fruit trade might yet do much to insure Ireland's commercial prosperity."—Westminster Gazette.

SUN AND MOON

A Couple of Interesting Folklore Stories Concerning Those Luminaries.

The most touching of all folklore stories may be found in Charles F. Lummis' "Pueblo Folklore." It is one of the many myths of the moon and beautifully conceived. The sun is the Allfather, the moon the Allmother, and both shine with equal light in the heavens. But the Trues, the superior divinities, find that man, the animals, the flowers, weary of a constant day. They agree to put out the Allfather's, or sun's, eyes. The Allmother—the moon—offers herself as a sacrifice. "Blind me," she says, "and leave my husband's eyes." The Trues say, "It is good, woman."

They accept the sacrifice and take away one of the Allmother's eyes. Hence the moon is less brilliant than the sun. The man finds rest at night, and the flowers sleep.

In Mrs. Leiber Cohen's translation of Sacher Masoch's "Jewish Tales" there is a variant of the sun and moon story derived from the Talmud. Briefly told, the sun and moon are equally luminous. It is the moon who wants to be more brilliant than the sun. Deity is angered at her demands. Her light is lessened. "The moon grew pale. Then God pitied her and gave her the stars for companions."

A Clever Woman.

The director of a Chicago bank tells about how his wife overhauled her account at the bank last month. "I spoke to her about it one evening," says he, "and told her she ought to adjust it at once. A day or two afterward I asked her if she had done what I suggested. 'Oh, yes,' she answered. 'I attended to that matter the very next morning after you spoke to me about it. I sent the bank my check for the amount I had overdrawn!'"
